PUNCTUALITY.

MESSRS. EDITORS:—It is said of General Washington that "he was always punctual to meet an engagement, and allowed five minutes before the time, and to wait rather impatiently for the arrival of the moment allotted for action. When the hour had fully come, and the delay of others rendered it inexpedient to proceed, he looked upon his own obligation as cancelled, withdrew immediately from the place of rendezvous, and no inducement could ever prevail upon him to return." No one ever had to wait for General Washington or Lord Nelson.

The lesson inculcated by the anecdotes respecting these great men is, to be in time for every duty. It should be the standard principle of every man who has any regard to those with whom he acts, to be truly punctual to all his engagements. To himself it is a rule of incalculable importance, and applies to every occupation and every pursuit of life. The ancients represented Time under the similitude of an old man, with a single lock of hair upon his forehead, gravely but steadily approaching a multitude—and whoever seized this lock, and held him by it, was borne onward with the most assured pledge that could be given of future success. But if any suffered him to pass them, he spread out his wings, which till then were concealed behind him, and flew away with a rapidity which rendered pursuit utterly vain. Hence the old and useful adage, "Take time by the forelock." Better be five minutes with General Washington, or even fifteen minutes with Lord Nelson, too early, than one minute too late.

The importance to one's self of being at or before the time, may perhaps be better illustrated by an example or two.

I have in my eye a young man who was my class mate in College. There was nothing in the structure of his mind or in its development peculiarly striking. He seemed to possess a mind cast in the ordinary mould, with no stamp upon it either of genius or brilliancy. But I marked the regularity with which he attended upon all the duties of the Institution. He was always at or before the time, in the Chapel, the recitation room, the Society Hall, or wherever else there was a just claim upon his merit or attention. Nor did he ever offer as an excuse, that he was unprepared for any exercise to which he was properly called. He "took time by the forelock," and had his lessons all thoroughly digested long before the hour of recitation arrived. His compositions were all written several days in advance of the time he was required to read, and as leisure offered, he would frequently re-model or re-write them. He left nothing to be done at the eleventh hour; but carried out the principle of punctuality into everything that concerned him.

The result was, he left many of his class lagging behind, while he pressed onward with increased energy, and making every day some increase to his stock of knowledge. He was at last graduated as A. B. with a distinction which he had no expectation of attaining. And without entering into the minute particulars of his subsequent life, it is enough to say that he became a minister of the gospel, where he carried out this same principle in his preparations for the pulpit—in his family, in his punctual visitations, and in the meetings of ecclesiastical courts.

Whoever else was behind the time, with him there was one undeviating rule—he was never tardy, he was never unprepared. And by this means he acquired that vigor of thought, and energy of style, and pathos of utterance, so essentially necessary to distinguished usefulness, as a herald of the Cross;—thus securing the high respect and confidence of his brethren, and of all who knew him. To himself, then, his habit of punctuality was amazingly useful; and to many others not much less so than to himself, for his example has had a powerful influence in producing a similar habit among all who were within its range.

Let me select another instance of a different character to illustrate the same principle.

Our funeral solemnities, it is well known, are oftentimes seasons of great and vexatious delay. When the appointed hour arrives, the undertaker is not there, or the hearse is not there, or the minister is not there—or some of the pall-bearers, or mourners, or attendants or friends are absent,—there is nothing in readiness for the solemnity, but a restless and impatient crowd of people, curious to know what is the matter. And not unfrequently, a single individual keeps hundreds in waiting, not merely minutes, but hours, after the appointed time for commencing the services. And who does not know that such delays are calculated, more than anything else, to unfit the mind for receiving any favorable impression on such occasions? How many have wished themselves away before the services began; and how many have gone off, as soon as they could decently do so, vexed that they were thus cheated out of the time that should have been devoted to other duties? I do believe, it is on this account mainly, that the generality of funerals utterly fail of producing any good effects.

Now let each one—as the preachers say—improve this subject, by making some such personal reflections as these: What right have I to cause a number of [illegible], whom I have engaged to meet at a particular hour, not only to waste their time, but become impatient and fretful by my delay? What right have I to rob them of that which I can never restore—the precious hours worse than wasted? What right have I to set such a ruinous example—to betray an important trust—to trifle with the sensibilities of those whom I am bound to respect, and cut off a portion of their usefulness?—In an individual case, which I have occasioned, the effect may be small, but in the aggregate the amount exceeds belief.

RAIL ROADS.

NOTICE.

OFFICE SEABOARD & ROANOKE R. R. CO., PORTSMOUTH, VA., March 22d, 1867.

IT has been understood by the officers in charge of transportation via the Seaboard Inland Freight Route, that letters addressed to the Railroad Agent at Portsmouth, on the subject of freights, are unanswered, and that in consequence, causes of delay are not explained, and claims for losses and damage unsettled, and as the Seaboard and Roanoke Railroad Company, who are the forwarding agents for the line, are satisfied that these causes of complaint are not due to their Agents, but to the inaccuracy of the mails, in order to test this subject, the Manager of the Seaboard Road requests that whenever persons have written to the undersigned Agent of the Seaboard Road, and after waiting a reasonable time for a reply, have not received it, that they will address him a letter enclosing a duplicate of the letter they had previously addressed to the agent. If this is complied with, and the Manager of the Seaboard Road receives the letter, he gives assurance that it shall be promptly investigated and replied to.

This Air-Line Freight Route

claims to be the most expeditious and direct route, and avoiding to a great extent Marine Insurance, also the cheapest freight route between the Madame H. A. PERRIGO.

She reveals secrets no mortal ever knew. She restores to happiness those who, from doleful events, catastrophies, grosses in love, loss of relations and friends, loss of money, &c., have become despondent. She brings together those long separated, gives information concerning absent friends or lovers, restores lost or stolen property, tells you the business you are best qualified to pursue and in what you will be most successful causes speedy marriages and tells you the very day you will marry, gives you the name, likeness and characteristics of the person. She reads your very thoughts, and by her almost supernatural powers unveils the dark and hidden mysteries of the future. From the stars we see in the firmament—the malefic stars that overcome or predominate in the configuration—from the aspects and positions of the planets and the fixed stars in the heavens at the time of birth, she deduces the future destiny of man. Fail not to consult the greatest Astrologist on earth. It costs you but a trifle, and you may never again have so favorable an opportunity. Consultation fee, with likeness and all desired information, $1. Parties living at a distance can consult the Madame by mail with equal safety and satisfaction to themselves, as if in person. A full and explicit chart, written out, with all inquiries answered and likeness enclosed, sent by mail on receipt of price above mentioned. FRIDAY EVENING, APRIL 26, 1867.

THE GREAT CONCERN.

No political question is so important to the interests of the South, as the early restoration of the States to harmony with the Union. This sentiment may now be said to be well nigh universal in the South, and we believe it is the settled purpose of the Southern people to reconstruct on the Congressional platform precisely. It is the only political question which interests any one. All that Congress can require, or will require, is strict compliance with the law.—This our people will do, because it is law. But they will not do what Southern so-called loyalists require: Place the future control of the government in the hands of incompetent, bad and vicious men.

But above and beyond this single political question of reconstruction, our people have no politics and desire to have none, so long as this question is an open one. The material prosperity of the South and of its people is the great concern. Food, clothing, debts, taxes for the National and State governments, the education of our children and the necessary provision for families, for the poor and the moral wants of society, occupy far more our people's thoughts than partisan politics. These are, at least, the great concern of the majority of our people, and should be of all.

And well they should be. For our poverty, our economical embarrassments and the trouble which they occasion are not ideal. The tales of anguish and distress which we hear are real and come up from burdened hearts, which can see little, if any, prospect of escape from the calamities which threaten. Bad as our condition was after the war, earnest and determined as the spirit of our people was to restore their broken fortunes, and stirring as the business marts of the South seemed for a while, we discover but little real improvement in the condition of our people.

Business is evidently languishing in all our towns. The rich fruits of the last cotton crop of this State, and indeed of the South, have been nearly exhausted, and yet, for the most part, the means of the people to make a new crop are nearly as scanty as they were the last year; instead of the debts of the people having been reduced, they have been accumulated by costs and interest, the necessary support of families, the cost of the crops, and the national and other taxes, having swallowed up the results of our people's labor.

Thousands of men stand ready to embark in agriculture, mining, manufacturing and merchandise, but the means for the encouragement of enterprise cannot be had, while the rod of terror, treasured up in the wrath of the Congress, is still suspended over our heads. Many want employment—are ready to embark in profitable enterprises, but for all these obstacles which hedge up the path to success. Hence idleness and its attendant evils are crowding upon society, and thousands comparatively idle, but anxious to work, despondent and despairing, are driven to extremities at which they revolt at first, but at length yield to.

This is a gloomy picture. It is a true one, but it is not a hopeless one. Where there is a will, there is a way. Industry, economy, frugality among all classes, would soon lift this veil. We must go to work. If we cannot secure employment and success, in one branch of business—one as noble or as respectable as we desire,—try something else that is honest, if not so respectable.—Moreover, our people are not as frugal as our poverty requires. We hoped that the severities of the war, would teach us to lay aside our greed after show and fashion and extravagant living. Everybody thinks and everybody knows, that people can't afford what we used to enjoy. Let us then act more like sensible people, and live within our means.

GOV. VANCE.—A friend has handed us the following remark of a Northern correspondent, contained in a letter recently received. The writer is a sound and uncompromising Republican. He says: "I see a good deal is said about Vance's recent pardon. I think that Vance's conduct, during and since the war, has had a good deal to do in the matter. You know that his letter-book during the war is in the War Department, at Washington, and it has been read by leading men. Gradually men begin to contrast Vance as drawn by himself in official acts, with Vance as described by his enemies."

This is doubtless true, and the same may be said of all the true men of the South. We have repeatedly remarked that if the Northern people had known the real status of the Southern people, before the war, and the Southern people could have known fully the status of the Northern people, we would have had no war. And if both sides could have fully understood each other, since the war, there would have been no difficulty in the reconstruction of our whole people. But as, before the war, bad and demagogical men and newspapers were bent upon a conflict at all hazards, for their own personal and partizan promotion, so, since the war, this same class of persons and papers have moved heaven and earth to keep up and promote alienation and difficulty, for the same reasons. Could they all be drowned in the depths of the sea, by whom these offences have come, the country would soon be at peace, and our Constitutional Union would be perpetuated, without a jar, till Gabriel's trump proclaimed the end.

THE BOARD OF CLAIMS.

The Commissioners of Claims met yesterday, and organized by electing J. C. Harper, Esq., their Chairman. They will be engaged, for a few days, in preparing their rules, compiling and collating the laws which are to govern their proceedings, and in other preliminaries to their action on the claims which they are appointed to investigate.—The Board has adopted the following rules:

1. Until otherwise directed, the Board will hold its sessions in the Capitol; and will be ready, each day, after the 6th. of May, to receive, hear and consider claims, after 9 o'clock, A. M.

2. Each claim must be accompanied by a plain statement of its foundation and merits, and a reference to the law or authority supporting it.

3. Each claim must present distinctly the items of which it may consist, including, in cases where applicable, quantities and prices.

4. Claims for articles furnished by others and paid for by the claimant must be accompanied by the proper voucher.

5. Every person presenting a claim shall make affidavit before the Board, or a Clerk of a Court of Record, or one of the Judges of the Supreme or Superior Courts, to the truth of the facts presented in the claim; and that he or she is the sole owner of such claim: or if others are interested, shall state who they are, and in what proportion.

6. Claims of an unlike nature due the same person, should be made separately, but should be presented to the Board at the same time.

7. Papers once presented to the Board will be regarded as filed and under its control.

8. Claims prepared in accordance with these regulations may be forwarded by mail or otherwise to the Chairman of the Board at Raleigh.

THE MARRIAGE LICENSE LAW.

MESSRS. EDITORS.—The law of the last Legislature, "prescribing the duties of Clerks in issuing marriage licenses," contains a few amendments to our present law on that subject in the Revised Code, but they are important, and attention should be properly called to them.

By the amended law, no bonds for license are required, as they were inefficient for protection and redressed no wrong, and formed a very considerable item of expense in Revenue stamps, which was carried out of the State.

The other amendments were to ascertain and secure the proper identity of persons and their families. The habit of writing the initial letter of the name for the name itself, where there are so many names commencing with the same letter, causes error; sometimes a serious one. Hence, it is now required to write the names in full.

And the multiplication of the same names in a family or neighborhood is another growing source of error, which has been greatly increased since the emancipation of our slaves, who, almost universally, take the surname of their former owner; and the father sees his own name and that of his son and daughter borne by so many that a name actually loses its principal object of adoption, being intended as a description of the person, but now requiring some other prefix or nickname to distinguish them. To effect that purpose, the amended law requires the names of parties in the marriage license to be further designated by the distinction of color; and also the names of their parents added, as far as can be known,—which is readily done in the case of whites; but it will require some years before marriage and legitimate offspring can answer the enquiry among the colored population.

The main object of this amendment was to identify and describe the parties, but, if properly observed, the registration of marriages will add very materially to the history and tracing of families, which is so much neglected in this country, but which is very desirable to families themselves, and often necessary to ascertain the titles of the property. With this view, it is to be regretted that the law did not require the age and residence of the parties also, and it would seem to be an oversight, as the Clerk cannot issue a license except the woman to be married is a resident of the county, or to a male under sixteen or to a female under fourteen. So, to this extent, it is made the duty of the Clerk to inquire into the residence and age of the female, and the age of the male, and this should properly be stated in the license, to show that the duty had been performed.

The Clerk of the County Court, in the County in which the woman resides, is the only Clerk who can issue the license for her marriage and that establishes her residence. This was to prevent secret and clandestine marriages, and carrying off girls into other counties to elude the care and vigilance of parents and guardians. This feature in the marriage license law has been frequently violated by the oversight or ignorance of Clerks; and when run away matches come into the border counties from the adjoining States, the law requires a written permit from the guardian or parent before the Clerk can issue a license. This is a wise precaution in law, and its observance should be enforced on our Clerks.

The amended law further requires the certificate of marriage to be returned and filed in the Clerk's Office, after he has copied into a register, in parallel columns, the names of the parties, the date of their marriage, and by whom married, and that a separate book be kept for the registration of white and colored persons.

C.

A CANING AND EAR CROPPING.—Some excitement was produced in Portsmouth last evening, in the neighborhood of the Court St. Baptist Church, by a caning affair that came off as the denouement of a correspondence that had been conducted by a married lady, and a gentleman who had presumed to admire her.

It appears that the victim of the cane had written a note to the married lady which she indignantly and promptly showed to her husband: the husband was also indignant and instructed his wife to reply to the note, and make an appointment to meet him at the point above named. At the appointed time the expected "lover" appeared, but instead of meeting the lady he was confronted by the enraged husband, who proceeded to seek satisfaction by the vigorous application of a big stick, and ended his attack by cropping one of the ears of the admirer of his wife. The husband being satisfied, reported the affair to the authorities, and gave bonds for his appearance to answer when wanted. There has been no complaint entered, and we withhold names for the present.—Norfolk Day Book.

The only thing doing in business or amusements at Helena, Ark., during the present overthrow, is boat racing. There are scrub matches over the streets every day; but on the 12th there was a grand race for a purse of sixty dollars, in which six skiffs were entered. The contest was highly exciting, and was witnessed by many ladies.

STATE REVENUE MATTERS.

The following circular from the Public Treasurer will be read with interest. We publish it to day, to the exclusion of other matter, as the season for list-taking has commenced, and it is of the highest importance that the public should be thoroughly informed in the premises.

STATE OF NORTH CAROLINA,
TREASURY DEPARTMENT,
Raleigh, April 24th, 1867.

To List Takers and other Revenue Officers:

Various questions as to the construction of the Revenue law have been addressed to this Department. I give below, in substance, my answers, in the hope that they may be of service to officers administering the law.

The following extract from a late order of Maj. Gen. Sickles, will show that the collection of the State taxes must be made, notwithstanding the recent Act of Congress placing the State under military rule:

"XVI. Nothing in this order shall be construed to restrain or prevent * * * * * * the collection of any tax, impost, excise, or charge levied by authority of the United States or of the Provisional Governments of North and South Carolina; but no imprisonment for overdue taxes shall be allowed."

I will be pleased to learn the views of any one, who conceives that his business or property is unduly taxed—will give those views careful consideration, and if, in my opinion, the objections are just, will report them to the General Assembly for their action.

If any county blanks for taking tax lists have not been received, they can be had on application to the Comptroller, whose province it is to furnish them, and who long since forwarded copies by mail.

Very respectfully,
KEMP P. BATTLE,
Public Treasurer.

VALUATION OF REAL ESTATE.

A. dies in 1860, leaving a tract of land to B. C. and D., valued at $1,000. B. sells his tract for mining purposes for $3,000. How must the list taker manage?

Answer.—Under Sec. 28, Act for collecting Revenue, he must estimate what would have been the value of B's tract in 1860, supposing no mine had been discovered. Under Sec. 29, he will then estimate what additional value has been imparted to it by finding the mine. The value thus ascertained is that to be returned.

In the above case B does not list any part of this increase of value as "income."

VALUATION OF PERSONAL PROPERTY.

Personal property liable to taxation ad valorem must be valued at the market price at the time of listing, at the place where the property is located. See Rev. Act, page 3.

POLLS—WHO ARE LABORERS?

Landowner employs hands liable to poll tax, giving as wages part of crop; he must list them.

Landowner lets his land to negroes, under contract to receive part of the crop as rent; he is not bound to list them. It would be the same if the owner furnishes team, &c., provided he parts with the control of the land, and cannot direct the labor of the hands.

The question is, who has control of the land? If the owner he must list the workmen. If the hands have control until crop time, they are tenants, not laborers.

The Sheriff, when the owner of the land is not bound for poll tax of the cropper, should enforce the payment of the tax by distraint of the growing crop. He has no right to return as insolvent one who has an interest in a growing crop.

If the renter of land employs laborers, he is bound for their poll tax.

A planter is not bound to list his manager or overseer. Nor is a merchant bound to list his clerks.

Employers must list those in their service 1st. April as day laborers. This construction is thought hard, but the words are too plain for doubt, and, indeed, the revenue bill as originally presented was amended in the Senate by the addition of the latter clause of the the section under consideration, mainly to secure tax from this itinerant class of laborers.

HOUSEHOLD FURNITURE

worth $325. Only $25 is to be listed. Books worth $600. Only $100 to be listed.

COTTON AND TOBACCO, &C., on hand 1st of April, 1867, produced in 1865, must be listed. The owner may retain family supplies for one year.

SHARES OF STOCK

in Railroad Companies (except Raleigh & Gaston and Wilmington & Weldon R. R. Stocks, which are exempt, the former until dividends exceed 15 per cent. per annum, the latter absolutely,) must be listed at their market value, along the line of the roads.

MONEY.

$100 can be deducted from cash on hand 1st. April. If a man has nett income over $500, and has the income in the shape of money on hand 1st. April, it must be taxed as "money," as well as "income."

NATIONAL BANKS

Should list the shares of stock, owned therein by residents and non residents, at the place where the Bank is located, under Sec. 11, Class 1, Sched. A.

CLASS 2. SCHED. A.

Watches, Gold and Silver and plated ware; also, pleasure carriages and harness, are taxable whether used or not. It is different with jewelry and musical instruments.

Carriage and horses used by Physicians, exclusively in practice, are exempt.

SALARIES.

A clerk in a store, receiving compensation of $50 per month, must pay the salary tax if he receives from April 1, 1866, to April 1, 1867 over $500. The sum of $500 cannot be deducted from the total.

CLASS 3—SCHEDULE A.

Nett income under $500 not taxable. If over $500, that amount cannot be deducted.

The expense of keeping carriages and horses, used exclusively by physicians in their practice, can be deducted from gross income.

Also the necessary expenses of lawyers in attending Courts.

Also "food," &c., bought by a farmer for his hands or stock, but if the farmer produces his subsistence, his income from this product and his expenses in feeding it exactly balance, and nothing is to be deducted.

If a farmer give food as part wages to his laborers, he may deduct the value, but on most plantations that value is trifling, as it is to the interest of the owner to have the land cleared for cultivation. House rent given as wages, should not be deducted.

School teachers, who receive tuition money for the pupils taught by them, are not taxed as having a salary, but are taxed on their nett income, under this section.

Gain on purchase and re-sale of lands, stock, &c., within the year preceding 1st April 1867, must be estimated as "income."

LIQUOR PURCHASES.

If A. buys liquor in New York and sells to B for re-sale, A is liable to the ten per cent. tax, but B is not.

So if A buys of the maker in this State and sells to B for re sale, A is liable for the five per cent. tax, and B is not.

But in both cases, if B claims exemption, he must prove as prescribed in 2nd clause of Sec. 3, Class 3, Schedule A., that A listed the liquors in this State.

If A has liquor consigned to him by a N. Y. House for sale on commission, and he sells to B for re-sale, by the express language of Sec. 2, B is liable for the ten per cent. tax, while A is only liable for one-fifth of one per cent. on his sales, under Sec. 5.

If A, in the above case, retails the liquors, selling them to persons buying for their own use, not for sale, he is liable to pay the Sheriff ten per cent. on his sales, under Sec. 22, Schedule B.

The same rules hold mutatis mutandis in the case of consignments by the maker of liquors and sales by the consignee.

The U. S. tax on liquors is not to be deducted from the amount of purchase. If the dealer gave $3 per gallon for whiskey, he must list $3: if he gave $1, and also paid the $2 tax, he must list the whole, $3 per gallon.

MERCHANTS AND OTHER TRADERS.

I last year gave the opinion that if A. purchases raw material, bestows on it his labor, and then sells the product of his labor, he is not a "trader" within the meaning of the Revenue law, although he has been decided to be a "trader" under the bankrupt laws of England. The General Assembly with a knowledge of this construction has not changed the words of the law. Hence I give the following opinions with confidence:

1st. That a steam saw miller, is not taxed under Sec. 5, Class 3, Sched. A, on his purchases of logs, although after sawing them into lumber he sells the lumber.

2nd. A newspaper editor does not pay on his purchases of paper, &c.

3rd. A shoe manufacturer does not pay on purchases of leather.

4th. Nor a sculptor of tomb stones on his purchases of marble.

5th. Nor a manufacturer of yarns or cloth on his purchases of cotton.

6th. Nor a planter on his purchase of guano, afterwards converted into cotton or wheat, &c., &c.

In these cases the articles sold is totally different from the raw material bought.—The business conducted is that of manufacturing or producing, not of "trading."

But if the business is to "trade"—to buy articles and re sell them substantially in the same form, the person conducting it must pay on his purchases, although he may, as subsidiary to his main business, to some extent carry on manufacturing.

Jewellers and Druggists may be mentioned as examples under this head, specially named in Sec. 5.

Merchants and other traders, who list their purchases under Sec. 5, page 9, do not list their capital for ad valorem taxation under Sec. 10, p. 6, but they are bound for tax on their "nett income," if over $500.

Bakers, Saw Millers, and other manufacturers, who do not pay on their purchases of raw material, must list their capital under Sec. 10, p. 6, and are likewise bound for the income tax, if the nett amount exceeds $500.

Commission merchants in this State frequently buy and sell goods as other merchants. In such cases they will pay as merchants under Sec. 5. Where they sell the goods of others as consignees only, they must pay on their sales. If a Commission merchant buys for a regular merchant as agent, the regular merchant must pay the tax on purchases. So if a produce broker negotiates a sale for a Commission merchant, the latter must pay the tax on the sale.—But the broker is liable if he sells for the owner of the goods.

PLAYING CARDS.

On each purchase of playing cards the tax accrues, no matter how often the same may be sold.

PISTOLS, &C.

The tax on pistols, &c., is not affected by the order of Gen. Sickles, prohibiting the wearing of deadly weapons. The tax is on the weapon, used or worn about the person, at any time during the year, i e: from April 1st. 1866 to April 1st. 1867. As it is indictable to fail to list after having worn the weapons, it is the duty of the grand juries to enquire into the fact of listing by examination of the returns, and to present any offender against the law.

If a person uses or wears about his person weapons not his own, he is notwithstanding liable to the tax.

Employers are not bound to list the pistols, &c., of their employees, unless such employees are their minor children or wards.

EXEMPTIONS.

A house and lot, leased by the owner, as an investment, to be used for a boarding school, is not exempt from taxation.

Pianos exclusively used for instruction in a school are exempt.

The income of a shool teacher, if exceeding $500, is not exempt.

THE DUTY OF THE HOUR.—There never was a time, perhaps, when it was as idle and useless a business, as it is now, for the people of the South to bother their heads and hearts about political affairs. There certainly never has been a time when her political situation was so entirely beyond the control of her people.

Our principal efforts then may well be for our own individual security—so to live that the despot shall never know we do live, shall never hear of us. This we can do by living, every man, an orderly and peaceful life within his own proper sphere. One may as well climb a tree to see into next week as to try to foretell the future. Its contingencies as to the public affairs are almost too uncertain to be provided against in any degree. And this uncertainty affects the rich and the poor alike. He who has property cannot tell in what way he may safely use it, nor whether he may safely let it lie as it is.—And he who has God's greatest blessings, health, energy and strength, cannot tell how he may best apply them, nor whether he will, in any event, reach the reward of his labor bestowed.

Each day fortunately brings its cares and its duties, and the proper discharge of these is the only safe step ahead. And if each man shall pursue the even tenor of his way, doing the work that his hands may find to do, the country will work out its own destiny, and public affairs, now beyond our control will shape their own course, guarded by One who holds the whole earth in the hollow of his hand and who directs the destinies of men and of nations alike.

Corn and wheat are most essential to life and are more easily matured than Constitutional amendments, and the potatoe crop is more within the scope of our efforts than the political situation. Let us devote our labor to these, and see to it that we have food and raiment sufficient for our wants.—And with that we will have done well, yea, the best we can do.—Warrenton Sentinel.

RITUALISM ON TRIAL.—In England they are transferring the ritualistic excitement from the chancel and altar to the court-room. The Bishop of London has signed "letters of request" to Dr. Lushington, the Dean of the Court of Arches, charging Rev. A. H. Mackonochie, incumbent of St. Albans, Holborn, London, with four offences: 1. The elevation and adoration of the holy elements. 2. The placing of lights on the communion table. 3. The use of incense. 4. The use of the mixed chalice. Dr. Stephens and Mr. Coleridge, Q. C., are retained to conduct the prosecution, and Sir R. Phillimore, Queen's Advocate, with Dr. Deane, are to manage the defence.

THE SITUATION.

The Newbern Journal of Commerce, in its local columns, thus describes matters in that region:

"One of the most threatening features in connection with admission of the Freedmen to the ballot box, is their characteristic disposition to move in a body like wild pigeons, whatever direction their leaders may suggest. This has been fully illustrated by the recent elections in Georgetown, Alexandria, and elsewhere. Too ignorant to reason much, and as a consequence easily prejudiced and led, they may be likened to a great mass of moulten matter, which, under the manipulations of cunning craftsmen, can be formed and shaped into designs, which centuries of labor could not eradicate or destroy.

We are no alarmist, but we advise our citizens to reflect on this subject. Property holders, tax payers, the aged and infirm, and all classes of persons influenced by political changes which affect their rights or happiness, should begin to realize the true state of affairs; and set to work actively to counteract the machination of the vile demagogues, who are plotting day and night to mould the colored race into an instrument to carry out their own base designs. For the probabilities are this instrument will prove to be a guillotine, whereby they will be deprived of liberty, property, and all security for even life itself.

No where in North Carolina, do these reflections apply so importantly as in our own city. We have a mixed population of whites; and a large body of floating characters of both colors. A majority of the Freedmen have at some time or other been connected or associated with the Federal army, and have there acquired a fondness for leagues, unions, and politico military organizations of every kind that will furnish them an opportunity to bluster and display badges.

This affords a fine field for the chicanery and malignant trickery of the numerous adventurers, who are seeking stepping stones to places of power and authority in our midst. And our citizens may well beware, lest they discover too late that their apathy has cost them dearly. We tell the people of Newbern, it is high time for them to wake up and go to work to counteract the efforts of these demagogues! It is high time for them to inaugurate a movement looking to the enlightenment of the Freedmen, as to who their true friends are. It is high time our public men should be acting publicly, and if we lose all let it not be said, we lost our liberties by default. It is useless to contend against the situation. We may have our prejudices, but we must overcome them, between this and the next election, or we shall be compelled to submit to the prejudices of others!"

SEEDS FOR THE SOUTH.—The Commissioner of Agriculture is now daily sending to the South seeds and cereals, in accordance with the provisions of the recent law transferring $50,000 from the funds of the Freedmen's Bureau to aid in relieving the general destitution of garden and farm seeds in the South, to give to that region new and improved varieties, and thus help to avert a famine in the immediate future. The regular statistical corps of correspondents, so far as appointed, will represent the Department in the distribution within their own counties and agents are designated in other counties to assist in the work. Individual requests for small parcels are also regarded, and the distribution is thus made as general and equal as possible. The quantity of seeds at the disposal of the Commissioner, however, will fall far short of the demand upon him and of the great expectations of the people, who little realize the extent and destitution of the country to be supplied. Mr. Newton is entitled to the credit of suggesting, urging, and securing this timely and valuable boon to the Southern people; and his promptness in forwarding supplies will secure him their lasting gratitude.—Nat. Intelligencer, 24th.

THE NEWS AND FARMER,

PUBLISHED WEEKLY AT

ASHEVILLE, N. C.

By R. M. STOKES.

HAVING PURCHASED THE OFFICE OF THE Asheville News, I have determined to enlarge it and devote its columns more especially to the interests of Agriculture, Horticulture, Mining,

and all the other industrial pursuits of the State of North Carolina. For this purpose I have secured the assistance of many of the best practical scientific writers in nearly all parts of the State, who have agreed to contribute regularly to its columns valuable information on all the above subjects.

It will be the pride of the Proprietor to make the "News and Farmer" one of the handsomest as well as most valuable agricultural and family journals in the State.

The News and Farmer is published in one of the richest Agricultural and mining sections of the State, and enjoys almost the exclusive patronage of ten counties. This fact gives it great advantages to advertisers. Its subscription is now increasing daily from all parts of the state.

TERMS:

1 Copy 1 year, $3; 2 Copies $5.50; 5 Copies, $12.50; 10 copies $20, invariably in advance.

Grateful for the flattering patronage with which we have heretofore been so kindly favored, we respectfully solicit an increased share of the patronage of the citizens of Raleigh and the surrounding country. Without specially guessing, we deem it sufficient to say, that our stock mostly embraces such articles as are usually found in Family Groceries. Most of our goods have been recently bought in New York and Baltimore, for cash, and we hope to be able to sell them on satisfactory terms. In addition to our stock of Groceries, &c., we have a fine lot of

HATS AND READY MADE CLOTHING

and a splendid lot of Confectioneries, consisting of

PLAIN AND FANCY CANDIES, RAISINS, ORANGES, FIGS, NUTS AND BRANDY PEACHES, &c., all of which will be sold on reasonable terms.

We have also a fine lot of genuine Durham Smoking Tobacco, which we can implicitly recommend to "those who smoke." Please call and see us.

We will pay particular attention to all consignments of Produce and Merchandise entrusted to our care and will endeavor to sell at the best market prices. Consignments are respectfully solicited. By a prompt and close attention to business and fair dealing with all, we hope to merit and receive a share of public patronage.

THE SENTINEL.

FRIDAY EVENING, APRIL 26, 1867.

LOCAL DEPARTMENT.

TO ADVERTISERS.—The public will find the Sentinel one of the best mediums of advertising in the State. Its circulation covers a larger area, perhaps, than any other paper.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.—We have inadvertently omitted, for several days past, to call attention to the daily advertisements of Mitchell, Allen & Co., Newbern. They are on hand, every day, in our columns, with a fresh announcement.

The eligible house in the North-Western part of the city, the former Iredell residence, is for rent. This is one of the most desirable places in our midst.

FISHING.—A correspondent at Washington, N. C., states that the Herrring fisheries on Tar River have done better this season than for fifteen years. He learns that at Dr. Bryan's fishery, on Blount's Creek, he has caught as many as 60,000 herring a day, with a seine not more than 300 yards long. Herrings are selling there at $6 per barrel.

G. W. SCUMPART, of the 1st. S. C. Regiment, died during the war at Gaston, Northampton Co., and was buried about one mile this side of that place. This notice is inserted for the information of any of his relations and friends, who may see it. Particulars concerning the death of the young man can be had by applying to Wm. A. Price, Raleigh.

"THE LAND WE LOVE."—The May number of this best of Magazines comes to its numerous readers in a new and beautiful dress. Arrayed in a wreath of intermingled holly and cypress are, at the head, where he always should be, Washington, as the PATRIOT, Chief Justice Taney on the left, as the JURIST, Stonewall Jackson on the right, as the SOLDIER, and opposite the Patriot are Webster, Calhoun and Clay, as the STATESMEN. It is altogether a very handsome frontispiece.

But the matter within the cover is what most concerns us. Always joyously disposed, when we get the Land We Love, we have looked over—first, as always,—the Haversack, in which are some very good things in the way of camp life, which we may hereafter extract, and which will "open the faces" of thousands. Aunt Abby, the irrepressible, came next, in which Mrs. Clarke has portrayed the peculiar characteristics of a personage well known in all this region. We are pretty good at prognostications, sometimes, but we cannot even conjecture when our editorial face will ever get smoothe again. It was not wrinkled with care, be sure. If any one doubts on the subject, let him read Aunt Abby, and then look in the glass, and he will see some of the oddest mixtures of tears and wrinkles, but no sadness, in or around his optics.

Speaking of stories, we have seen nothing on this side the Atlantic, nor from the other side either, better of its kind than Mrs. Downing's Chap. 4 of "Perfect Through Suffering." We have tried to make some selections from this very arch and sprightly delineation of character, but could find no place to stop at short of the end of the chapter.

There are, also, by the same lady, two poems, "Memorial Flowers" and "Love's Law," both of which have great poetical merit. The latter may be found on our fourth page. It is very classical and gay, and full of beauty.

Victor C. Barringer's "Twelve Months in Spain" grows better and better in every number, and we thank him for publishing, even at this late day, what was due to the public years ago.

Rev. D. B. Ewing has given us a very genial and interesting sketch of the life of his friend, Governor H. W. Allen.

The other articles read by us are all good. So, we doubt not, are those which we have yet to read.

All the articles in the Land We Love are original. We thought that the determination of the distinguished editor, on establishing the Magazine, to publish nothing which had before been in print, was ill-advised. We thought that choice selections from Foreign Magazines would grace his columns, and give them an additional interest to its readers. But we are satisfied now. We see nothing better in works from abroad than we see in our own "Institution" every month. There is in it native research and talent and taste enough to gratify any one's patriotism; and the unparallelled success of the enterprise is the highest compliment that could be paid to the judgment of its patriotic founder.

BASE BALL.—Notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather, the Match Game between the "Euphemians," of Kinston, and the "Crescents," of this City, came off on yesterday afternoon, on the grounds of the latter. The following is the scoring, from which it will appear that our young Kinston friends were worsted. They avow their purpose, however, not to "give it up so," but to try their victors again upon some future occasion:

STATE ITEMS.

——Senator Wilson is announced to speak in Newbern to morrow afternoon. We suppose that we shall have him in Raleigh early next week.

——A correspondent of the Journal of Commerce, of Newbern, writing from Plymouth, says that not much is left of the latter old town. It was nearly ruined by the war. Its business now is, to all appearance, chiefly the shingle trade. A single man, Mr. McRae, shipped a million and a half last Fall, and has now two millions ready for market. He has constructed a railway from his shingle yard, in the swamp, to the river, taking a saw mill on its route. Negroes and others by means of boats get into the swamps and engage in getting out shingles, which are sold to dealers in small lots, and, all told, the trade is an immense one.

——The same correspondent says of "Little Washington," that it presents a sad sight, but is looking up. The number of standing chimneys, silent witnesses of the ravages of war, is mournful. With all its disasters, however, he adds that there is an air of industry that cannot result in anything but recuperation, if persisted in.

——And still the same correspondent has been to Tarboro', which he says looks well and thrifty. He asks, by the way, if the proper designation of the river is Tar or Taw. It is neither, we think—but Taw, which was the Indian word for health.—Some folks would call this a misnomer, as the classic banks of that famous river have not a very hygienic reputation.

——Gilbert Bogart, Collector of Customs of the port of Washington, and an old and worthy resident, died in that place on Friday last.

——The Justices of New Hanover assembled in Wilmington, on Wednesday, for the purpose of taking some measures to relieve the county of the burden of expense incumbent upon it in the care of the large number of prisoners now confined in jail. Nothing of importance was done by the meeting, with the exception of the appointment of a committee of seven persons upon whom were conferred authority to act. They were instructed to superintend the construction of a work house as soon as the county could place the necessary funds at their disposal, or were empowered, if they thought proper, to make such arrangements for placing the prisoners at work upon public roads, etc., as they might see fit. We gather these facts from the Journal.

——The Dispatch, of the same City, says that Judge Fowle (to whom it pays a high compliment) is rapidly transacting the business before the Superior Court now in session. The proceedings, thus far, have been devoid of interest to all save the parties to the suits.

——The Newbern Journal of Commerce gives the particulars of a brutal murder near Kinston. It says:

"A most astounding crime was committed near Williams' mill, on South-west creek, about six miles from Kinston, on the Wilmington road, Saturday morning last. A vender of fish and oysters, named A. Coston, was proceeding down the road in his cart, when he was set upon by three men, who it is supposed first shot him through the head, and then dragging his body from the cart, maltreated it in a shocking manner. They then attached a rope to one leg of the corpse and taking it to the creek, but a short distance off, slipped the rope under a log at the bottom, and thus drew the dead man out of sight under the water. They took the cart to pieces and concealed them as well as possible. After which the murderous gang made off with the horse and their ill-gotten booty: which is thought to have been less than $45. Three men, named respectively James, John and Thomas Brinkley, were seen following the cart, and subsequently going down the road with the horse. The Sheriff immediately set out with a posse, and succeeded in arresting the two former, who are now in the Kinston jail. Thomas Brinkley was seen on Saturday morning with the horse, but being closely pursued took to the woods, and has not yet been captured."

——"Mecklenburg Declaration Lodge, No. 9, I. O. O. F.," in Charlotte, will celebrate the anniversary of the advent of Odd Fellowship in the United States, this evening. A sermon is to be delivered by the Rev. W. C. Power, Chaplain.

SWINDLER.—Some years ago the daughter of the well-known colored grave-decorator Edmond was sold to a party who carried her to North Carolina. Since that time Edmond has made every effort to learn tidings of his loved one, but without avail. A few weeks ago a man dressed in the uniform of a Federal soldier presented himself to the old father and stated that he was in the employ of the Danville Railroad Company, and that he had heard from his daughter, in Raleigh, N. C. He represented that she was desirous to return to her family, but had not the means. The simple, good-hearted old man, overjoyed at the prospect of seeing again the daughter whom he had expected never more to meet on earth, gave the fellow the amount of money which he said was necessary to defray her expenses, and with it the rascal departed, promising that in a few days father and child should be re-united. Day after day the patient, affectionate old man has awaited the arrival of the trains at the Danville depot, but each day has he been disappointed. At last it occurred to him to ask for his good friend; when, to add to the bitterness of his grief and disappointment, he learned that no such man as he described was in the service of the company.—Richmond Dispatch.

Judge——, who is now a very able judge of the Supreme Court of one of the great States of the Union, when he first "came to the bar," was a very blundersome speaker. On one occasion, when he was trying a case of replevin, involving the right of property to a lot of hogs, he addressed the jury was as follows: "Gentlemen of the jury—there was twenty-four hogs in that drove; just twenty-four, gentlemen; just twice as many as there are in that jury box!"

KNOW THY DESTINY.

MADAME E. F. THORNTON, the great English Astrologist, Clairvoyant and Psychometrician, who has astonished the scientific classes of the Old World, has now located herself at Hudson, N. Y. Madame Thornton possesses such wonderful powers of second sight, as to enable her to impart knowledge of the greatest importance to the single or married of either sex. While in a state of trance, she delineates the very features of the person you are to marry, and by the aid of an instrument of intense power, known as the Psychomotrope, guarantees to produce a life-like picture of the future husband or wife of the applicant, together with date of marriage, position in life, leading traits of character, &c. This is no humbug, as thousands of testimonials can assert. She will send when desired a certified certificate, or written guarantee that the picture is what it purports to be. By enclosing a small lock of hair and stating place of birth, age, disposition and complexion, and enclosing fifty cents and stamped envelope addressed to yourself, you will receive the picture and desired information by return mail. FERTILIZERS

FOR SPRING CROPS.

WE beg to inform the trade and planters of North Carolina and Virginia, that we are prepared to furnish them with the most approved FERTILIZERS, on the most accommodating terms. We will have a stock of genuine PERUVIAN GUANO, purchased direct from the Agent of the Peruvian Government.

We have now in store, for immediate delivery, 225 tons BRADLEY'S SUPER PHOSPHATE OF LIME, which won for itself such an enviable reputation in the Cotton and Tobacco counties of North Carolina and Virginia, last season, proving itself equal, and in many important respects, superior to the Peruvian Guano. We give an analysis of it as ascertained by Dr. Hayes, one of the most eminent Chemists in the country:

Results of Analyses Made of Bradley's Patent Super-Phosphate of Lime, as now sold by Wm. L. Bradley.

100 PARTS CONSIST OF
Moisture	5.30
Prepared animal matter, salts of Ammonia, fatty substances and Humus	38.80
Bone Phosphates of Lime, Magnesia and Iron	36.80
(Soluble Phosphates of do. 14 6-10.)
Sulphate of Lime	14.30
Salts	.30
Insoluble	2.60
	99.80

The animal matter after 1ed 4 3-10 parts of Ammonia when it was decomposed, and, as will be seen, nearly one-half of the Bone Phosphate is double.

After many analyses of your Super-Phosphate of Lime, made during the last few months, I have found your standard of quality full equal to that of any you have ever sold in former years; and I am satisfied that you include the correct principles in the manufacture. Respectfully,

A. A. HAYES, M. D., State Assayer.

We refer to the following gentlemen who tested the merits last season:

THE SENTINEL.

FRIDAY, APRIL 26, 1867.

[From the Land We Love.]

LOVE'S LAW.

The classical people were certainly queer,
And did many a comical thing;
Yet their doings, if sifted entirely clear,
Will some moral undoubtedly bring.

A fanciful fancy of their's I relate,
And the truth, which it covers, display;
Endeavoring its innermost meaning to state
To whoever may list to the lay.

These Ancients created a beautiful God,
And crowned him with myrtle and rose,
Then placed in his soft, snowy fingers a rod
With the which he did just as he chose.

He reigned on the mountains, he ruled o'er the sky,
And he governed the heavens above;
And naught might presume to dispute the decree
Of the powerful deity Love!

Love loved and was loved by the loveliest girl
That the earth at that season had seen;
As pure as some snowily glittering pearl
In the depths of the ocean serene.

He loved, and he wooed, and he won, and he made
This most exquisite maiden his bride,
Yet on her a stringent injunction he laid,
Lest a terrible woe should betide.

When night draped the earth in a soft, starry shade,
He would leave his bright throne in the sky,
Still crowned, and in royal apparel arrayed,
To the arms of his darling to fly.

Yet never a moment that darling might gaze
On the face of her lover divine,
Save when on his glorious beauty the rays
Of faint flickering star-beams should shine.

Love's law was obeyed and the moments flew fast
Round the silvery circle of Time,
Till Psyche too curious, grew sinful at last—
Disobedience to Husbands is crime!

One night she held close to his myrtle-wreathed head,
As asleep he dreamed happily on,
A lamp,—Love awoke in an instant, and fled
And forever and ever was gone!

This lesson enwrapped in the story I find;—
To be happy, obey it we must—
"To keep Love we must always be partially blind,
And take half of his treasures ——on trust!"

FANNY DOWNING.

KISS MY WIFE OR FIGHT ME.—There are few married men who are not averse to seeing their wives kissed, but an exchange relates the following particulars of a case in which a newly wedded benedict felt himself insulted because his wife wasn't kissed. The bridegroom in question was a stalwart rustic, who was known as a formidable operator in a "free fight." His bride was a blooming and beautiful young country girl, only sixteen years of age, and the twain were at a party, where a number of young folks were enjoying themselves in the good old fashioned pawn playing style. Every girl in the room was called out and kissed except B., the beautiful young bride aforesaid; and although there was not a youngster present who was not dying to taste her lips, they were restrained by the presence of her herculean husband, who stood regarding the party with a sullen look of dissatisfaction. They mistook the cause, however, for suddenly he expressed himself. Rolling up his sleeves, he stepped into the middle of the room, and in a tone of voice that secured attention, said:

"Gentlemen, I have been noticing how things have been working here for some time, and I ain't half satisfied. I don't wan't to raise a fuss, but—

"What's the matter, John?" inquired half a dozen voices. "What do you mean? Have I done anything to hurt your feelings?"

"Yes, you have; all of you have hurt my feelings, and I've just got this to say about it. Here's every girl in the room has been kissed near a dozen times apiece, and there's my wife, who I consider as likely as any of them, has not had one to-night; and I just tell you now, if she does not get as many kisses the balance of the night as any girl in the room, the man that slights her has got me to fight—that's all. Now, go ahead with your plays!"

A MIXIN' OF THE BABIES.—Some time ago there was a dancing party given up North; most of the ladies present had little babies, whose noisy perversity required too much attention to permit the mothers to enjoy the dance. A number of gallant young men volunteered to watch the young ones while the parents indulged in a "break down." No sooner had the women left the babies in charge of the mischievous devils than they stripped the infants, changed their clothes, giving the apparel of one to another. The dance over, it was time to go home, and the mothers hurriedly took each a baby, in the dress of her own, and started, some to their homes ten or fifteen miles off, and were far on their way before daylight. But the day following there was a tremendous row in the settlement; mothers discovered that a single night had changed the sex of their babies—observation disclosed the physical phenomena, and then commenced some of the tallest female pedestrianism; living miles apart, it required two days to unmix the babies, and as many months to restore the women to their natural sweet dispositions. To this day it is unsafe for the baby mixers to venture into the territory.

Congressional Reconstruction Acts.

For the information of our readers we republish as follows the late reconstruction act of Congress, known as the Sherman-Shellabarger bill. We shall add to it the Howard Amendment, Test Oath and the Supplementary act, all of which will be kept standing until the necessary information they contain shall be generally and fully understood.

THE RECONSTRUCTION ACT.

AN ACT to provide for the more efficient government of the rebel States.

[Passed over the President's Veto, March 23, 1867.]

WHEREAS, no legal State governments or adequate protection for life or property now exists in the rebel States of Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Mississippi, Alabama, Louisiana, Florida, Texas, and Arkansas; and whereas it is necessary that peace and good order should be enforced in said States until loyal and Republican State Governments can be legally established: Therefore,

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That said rebel States shall be divided into military districts and made subject to the military authority of the United States, as hereinafter prescribed, and for that purpose Virginia shall constitute the first district; North Carolina and South Carolina the second district; Georgia, Alabama and Florida the third district; Mississippi and Arkansas the fourth district; and Louisiana and Texas the fifth district.

Sec. 2. And be it further enacted, That it shall be the duty of the President to assign to the command of each of said districts an officer of the army, not below the rank of Brigadier general, and to detail a sufficient military force to enable such officer to perform his duties and enforce his authority within the district to which he is assigned.

Sec. 3. And be it further enacted, That it shall be the duty of each officer assigned as aforesaid to protect all persons in their rights of person and property, to suppress insurrection, disorder and violence, and to punish or cause to be punished all disturbers of the public peace and criminals, and to this end he may allow local civil tribunals to take jurisdiction of and to try offenders, or, when in his judgement it may be necessary for the trial of offenders, he shall have power to organize military commissions or tribunals for that purpose, and all interference, under color of State authority, with the exercise of military authority under this act shall be null and void.

Sec. 4. And be it further enacted, That all persons put under military arrest by virtue of this act shall be tried without unnecessary delay, and no cruel or unusual punishment shall be inflicted; and no sentence of any military commission or tribunal hereby authorized, affecting the life or liberty of any person, shall be executed until it is approved by the officer in command of the district, and the laws and regulations for the government of the army shall not be affected by this act, except in so far as they conflict with its provisions. Provided, That no sentence of death, under the provisions of this act, shall be carried into effect without the approval of the President.

Sec. 5. And be it further enacted, That when the people of any one of said rebel States shall have formed a constitution of government in conformity with the Constitution of the United States in all respects, framed by a convention of delegates elected by the male citizens of said State, twenty one years old and upwards, of whatever race, color or previous condition, who have been resident in said State for one year previous to the day of such election, except such as may be disfranchised for participation in the rebellion, or for felony at common law; and when such constitution shall provide that the elective franchise shall be enjoyed by all such persons as have the qualifications herein stated for electors of delegates; and when such constitution shall be ratified by a majority of the persons voting on the question of ratification, who are qualified as electors for delegates; and when such Constitution shall be ratified by a majority of the persons voting on the question of ratification, who are qualified as electors for delegates; and when such constitution shall have been submitted to Congress for examination and approval, and Congress shall have approved the same; and when the said State, by a vote of its legislature, elected under said constitution, shall have adopted the amendment to the constitution of the United States, proposed by the Thirty-ninth Congress, and known as article fourteen; and when said article shall have become a part of the constitution of the United States, said State shall be declared entitled to representation in Congress, and Senators and Representatives shall be admitted therefrom, on their taking the oath prescribed by law; and then and thereafter the preceding sections of this act shall be inoperative in said State. Provided, That no person excluded from the privilege of holding office by said amendment to the constitution of the United States shall be eligible to election as a member of the convention to frame a constitution for any of said rebel States, nor shall any such person vote for members of such convention.

Sec. 6. And be it further enacted, That until the people of said rebel States shall be by law admitted to representation in the Congress of the United States, any civil government which may exist therein shall be deemed provisional only, and in all respects subject to the paramount authority of the United States at any time to abolish, modify, control or supersede the same; and in all elections to any office under such provisional governments all persons shall be entitled to vote, and none others, who are entitled to vote under the provisions of the fifth section of this act; and no person shall be eligible to any office under such provisional governments who would be disqualified from holding office under the provisions of the third article of said constitutional amendment.

SCHUYLER COLFAX,
Speaker of the House of Representatives.
LAFAYETTE S. FOSTER,
President of the Senate pro tem.

The following is the Constitutional Amendment referred to in the 4t . section of the Sherman Bill:

Proposed Constitutional Amendment.

ARTICLE XIV.

Section 1. All persons born or naturalized in the United States and subject to the jurisdiction thereof are citizens of the United States and of the State wherein they reside. No State shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States; nor shall any State deprive any person of life, liberty or property without due process of law, nor deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws.

Sec. 2. Representatives shall be apportioned among the several States according to their respective numbers, counting the whole number of persons in each State excluding Indians not taxed. But when the right to vote at any election for the choice of electors for President and Vice-President of the United States, representatives in Congress, executive and judicial officers of a State, or the members of the Legislature thereof, is denied to any of the male inhabitants of such State being twenty-one years of age and citizens of the United States, or in any way abridged except for participation in rebellion or other crime, the basis of representation therein shall be reduced in the proportion which the number of such male citizens shall bear to the whole number of male citizens twenty-one years of age in such State.

Sec. 3. No person shall be a Senator or Representative in Congress, or elector of President and Vice-President, or hold any office, civil or military, under the United States or under any State, who, having previously taken an oath as a member of Congress, or as an officer of the United States, or as a member of any State Legislature, or as an executive or judicial officer of any State, to support the Constitution of the United States, shall have engaged in insurrection or rebellion against the same, or given aid and comfort to the enemies thereof. But Congress may, by a vote of two-thirds of each House, remove such disability.

Sec. 4. The validity of the public debt of the United States authorized by law, including debts incurred for payment of pensions and bounties for services in suppressing insurrection or rebellion, shall not be questioned. But neither the United States nor any State shall assume or pay any debt or obligation incurred in aid of insurrection or rebellion against the United States, or any claim for the loss or emancipation of any slave; but all such debts, obligations and claims, shall be held illegal and void.

Sec. 5. The Congress shall have power to enforce by appropriate legislation the provisions of this article.

The following is the oath of office referred to in the 5th section of the bill, and also in the 6th of the Supplementary Bill:

An Act to Prescribe an Oath of Office and for Other Purposes.

Be it enacted, That hereafter any person elected or appointed to any office of honor or profit under the government of the United States, either in the civil, military or naval department of the public service, except the President of the United States, shall before entering upon the duties of such office, and before being entitled to any of the salary or other emolument thereof, take and subscribe the following oath or affirmation: "I, A B, do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I have never voluntarily borne arms against the U. S. since I have been a citizen thereof; that I have voluntarily given no aid countenance, counsel or encouragement to persons engaged in armed hostility thereto; that I have never sought nor accepted, nor attempted to exercise the functions of any office whatever, under any authority, or pretended authority, in hostility to the United States; that I have not yielded a voluntary support to any pretended government, power or constitution within the United States, hostile or inimical thereto; and I do further swear (or affirm) that to the best of my knowlege and ability, I will support and defend the constitution of the United States against all enemies, foreign and domestic; that I will bear true faith and allegiance to the same; that I take this obligation freely, without any mental reservation or purpose of evasion, and that I will well and faithfully discharge the duties of the office on which I am about to enter. So help me God," which oath, so taken and signed, shall be preserved among the files of the court, Houses of Congress, or the department to which said officer may appertain. And any person who may falsely take said oath shall be guilty of perjury, and on conviction, in addition to the penalties now prescribed for that offence, shall be deprived of his office, and rendered incapable, forever after, of holding any office or place under the United States.

Approved July 2, 1862

SUPPLEMENT TO THE STEVENS-SHERMAN-SHELLABARGER BILL.

AN ACT supplemental to an act entitled an act to provide for the more efficient government of the rebel States, passed March 2, 1867, and to facilitate restoration.

Be it enacted &c., That before the first day of September, 1867, the commanding general in each district defined by the act to provide for the more efficient government of the rebel States, approved March 2 1867, shall cause a registration to be made of the male citizens of the United States, twenty-one years of age, and upwards, resident in each county or parish in the State or States included in his district, which registration will include only those persons who are qualified to vote for delegates by the act aforesaid, and who shall have taken and subscribed the following oath or affirmation:

"I, ——, do solemnly swear, or affirm, in the presence of Almighty God, that I am a citizen of the State of ——; that I have resided in said State for —— months next preceding this day, and now reside in the county of ——, or the parish of ——, in said State, as the case may be; that I am 21 years old; that I have not been disfranchised for participation in any rebellion or civil war against the United States, nor for felony committed against the laws of any State or of the United States; that I have never been a member of any State Legislature, or held any executive or judicial office in any state, and afterwards engaged in insurrection and rebellion against the United States, and given aid or comfort to the enemies thereof; that I will faithfully support the Constitution and obey the laws of the United States, and will, to the best of my ability, encourage others so to do. So help me God," to which oath or affirmation may be administered by any registering officer.

Sec. 2. That after the completion of the registration hereby provided for in any State at such time and place therein as the commanding general shall appoint and direct, of which at least thirty day's public notice shall be given, an election shall be held of delegates to a convention for the purpose of establishing a constitution and civil government for such State loyal to the Union; said convention in each State, except Virginia, to consist of the same number of members as the most numerous branch of the State Legislature of such State in the year 1860, to be apportioned among the several districts, counties, or parishes of such State by the commanding general, giving to each representation in the ratio of voters registered as aforesaid as nearly as may be. The convention in Virginia shall consist of the same number of members as represented the territory now constituting Virginia in the most numerous branch of the Legislature of said State in the year 1860, to be apportioned as aforesaid.

Sec. 3. That at such election the registered voters of each State shall vote for or against a convention to form a constitution thereof under this act. Those voting in favor of such a convention shall have written or printed on the ballots by which they vote for delegates as aforesaid, the words "for a convention;" and those voting against such a convention shall have written or printed on such ballots the words "against a convention." The persons appointed to superintend said election, and to make return of the votes given thereat, as herein provided, shall count and make return of the votes given for and against a convention; and the commanding general, to whom the same shall have been returned, shall ascertain and declare the total vote in each State for and against a convention. If a majority of the votes given on that question shall be for a convention, then a convention shall be held, as hereinafter provided; but if a majority of said votes shall be against a convention, then no convention shall be held under this act: Provided, That such convention shall not be held unless a majority of all such registered voters shall have voted on the question of holding such convention.

Sec. 4. That the commanding general of each district shall appoint such loyal officers or persons as may be necessary, not exceeding three in each election district, in any State, to make and complete the registration, superintend the election, and make return to him of the votes, lists of voters and of the persons elected as delegates by a plurality of the votes cast at said election; and upon receiving said returns he shall open the same, ascertain the persons elected as delegates according to the returns of the officers who conducted said election, and make proclamation thereof; and if a majority of the votes given on that question shall be for a convention, the commanding general within sixty days from the date of election, shall notify the delegates to assemble in convention at a time and place to be mentioned in the notification, and said convention, when organized, shall proceed to frame a Constitution and civil government according to the provisions of this act, and the act to which it is supplementary; and when the same shall have been so framed, said Constitution shall be submitted by the convention for ratification to the persons registered under the provisions of this act, at an election to be conducted by the officers, or persons appointed by the commanding general as herein before provided, and to be held after the expiration of thirty days from the date of notice thereof to be given by said convention, and the returns thereof shall be made to the commanding general of the district.

Sec. 5 That if, according to said returns, the constitution shall be ratified by a majority of the votes of the registered electors qualified as herein specified, cast at said election, at least one-half of all the registered voters voting upon the question of such ratification, the president of the convention shall transmit a copy of the same, duly certified, to the President of the United States, who shall forthwith transmit the same to Congress, if then in session, and if not in session, then immediately upon its next assembling; and if it shall moreover appear to Congress that the election was one at which all the registered and qualified electors in the State had an opportunity to vote freely and without restraint, fear or the influence of fraud, and if Congress shall be satisfied that such constitution meets the approval of a majority of the qualified electors in the State, and if the said constitution shall be declared by Congress to be in conformity with the provisions of the act to which this is supplementary, and the other provisions of said act shall have been complied with, and the said constitution shall be approved by Congress, the State shall be declared entitled to representation, and Senators and Representatives shall be admitted therefrom as herein provided.

Sec. 6. That all elections in the States mentioned in the said "Act to provide for the more efficient government of the rebel States," shall, during the operation of said act, be by ballot; and all officers making the said registration of voters and conducting said elections shall, before entering upon the discharge of their duties, subscribe an oath faithfully to perform the duties of their said office, and the oath prescribed by the act approved July 2, 1862, entitled "An act to prescribe an oath of office:" Provided, That if any person shall knowingly and falsely take and subscribe any oath in this act prescribed, such person so offending, and being thereof duly convicted, shall be subject to the pains, penalties and disabilities which by law are provided for the punishment of the crime of wilful and corrupt perjury.

Sec. 7. That all expenses incurred by the several commanding generals, or by virtue of any orders issued or appointments made by them under or by virtue of this act, shall be paid out of any moneys in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated.

Sec. 8. That the convention for each State shall prescribe the fees, salary, and compensation to be paid to all delegates and other officers and agents herein authorized or necessary to carry into effect the purposes of this act, not herein otherwise provided for, and shall provide for the levy and collection of such taxes on the property in such State as may be necessary to pay the same.

Sec. 9. That the word "article" in the sixth section of the act to which this is supplementary shall be construed to mean "section."

An Old Song, set to a New Tune.

1867.

As spring approaches
Ants and Roaches
From their holes come out
And Mice and Rats
In spite of cats,
Gaily skip about.

The Fall Session of this Institution closed 23rd. day of December. The Spring Session opened the 1st. Wednesday in January, and will continue 20 weeks.

The success of this school has been without a parallel. A new building has just been completed, by which a large additional number can be accommodated. We are determined to make our pupils as comfortable as they can be made anywhere, and to afford them all the advantage for a thorough and extensive education, that can be found at any First class Female College, North or South.

The location is a most delightful one. The Mineral Water is too well known to the whole country to need a remark. Even invalid young ladies may secure a thorough education, and at the same time the restoration of their health. Reference is made to every intelligent Physician in the State, as well as to the hundreds who have found relief here.

The young ladies all worship in the College Chapel, and hence no extra clothing is required.—In the single items of dress parents can save 25 per cent. of the entire expense incurred by sending to Boarding Schools located in cities or villages.—This Institution is certainly one of the cheapest and most easy of access in the Southern States.—Besides, it offers the most superior advantages in every respect.
